Whom ever it may concern,

As a future Social Work I strive to be able to provide a safe and loving environment for children who have not experienced such things during their life time. I will do this by creating activities to create an environment where they can forget about their hardships and create an environment where they feel safe and comfortable to share their concerns. Personally my mission is to help others feel comfortable and I want to make others happy. I will do this by uplifting others when they feel down and make sure I do not do things that will make them uncomfortable.

Throughout my life, I have overcome many personal hardships. Each and every time I made it through no matter how much I wanted to give up. I believe this is due to my strong will power to prove that I am just as capable as the next person. Due to my hardships that I have faced, I required certain skill sets that will help me in my future. These include, leadership, organization, empathy, and many more.

Once I decided to pursue my career in social work I began to work tirelessly to achieve goals. I was inducted into the Social Work honor society at Longwood University and Order of Omega, which is a Greek Life society. I was also accepted into the Advanced Standing online MSW program at Radford University in 2024. I believe this to be my biggest accomplishment.

Due to events in my personal life, I have always had the goal that one day I would help children heal and not experience the things I did in life. I want to be able to prevent extreme traumas, advocate for others, and be that person that others feel validated with.

Respectfully,

Brionna Ensor
