Helping memory announced

FREDERICKSBURG, VA-- A clinically tested and licensed product to help with memory loss was announced yesterday by a new company, MemoryPro.

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to not remember your best memories due to dementia or short term memory loss? Or maybe you have wished that you could share your memories directly and easily to social media. If so, then MemoryPro has just the product for you!

MemoryPro offers a small, microchip-like device that is inserted by a licensed technician. This is a new age of social media which allows users to experience their friends' memories and big life events in real time. This revolutionary technology will be immensely helpful to people with Alzheimer's or short term memory loss.

As we all know there are always risks with doing a procedure; but, to insert and remove our device is a minimal invasion procedure.

The device is inserted through the ear and is planted on your temporal lobe. We chose this part of the brain specifically because it is the part of the brain that deals with memory. This way, MemoryPro is able to be the most useful for memory sharing and recalling.

To recall a memory, users can simply think of a year that you have in mind, accompanied by a date, and MemoryPro will do the rest. MemoryPro also allows you to feel the same emotions and thoughts that you were thinking at the time. All of this information can be easily shared to your social media, or just to your friends, through the MemoryPro smartphone app.

MemoryPro is sold only by licensed technicians and can go for as low as $450. The device itself is $150 and installation is $300 which includes any anesthetics that may be needed. There is a payment plan offered to customers for the device installation fee. The fee will be divided into three months before initial installation which will fulfill the full payment requirement before installation. The antibiotics and pain medication required for aftercare is not included in the given price.

MemoryPro is able to provide a safe device to those with neurodegenerative diseases or short- or long-term memory loss. Our goal is to help these members of society recover their memories with ease. MemoryPro also allows a unique and fun way to share these memories to social media and other MemoryPro users.
