Collaboration in the Classroom

What is Collaboration?

* Collaboration is when you work with others on any given project or assignment.

* You will work with one or more people to create something.

Why do we collaborate?

* Increases your ability to work well with others.

* Groups should be able to get more done in a smaller amount of time.

* Not as much work!

How will this help you?

* Collaboration is useful in the real world. You may collaborate at work, college, or even at home.

* If you collaborate, you learn to work with others as a team.

Tips for Collaboration

* Be Respectful

* Give each member a role in the group

* State individual and group responsibilities

* Be honest about mistakes

* Make group goals

* Hold yourself accountable for your responsibilities

Where to Collaborate

* There are various ways to collaborate—in person, email/text, phone, or online.

* Platforms like Google Drive have made collaboration easy and effective.

* Google Drive allows multiple users to edit the same document several times, and has a chat feature.

Know you know…
Ready, Set, Go!

* Now that you know how to collaborate, get into your groups and use this google doc link:
