

1. On the first assessment I found that my scores reflected that developing good working relationships especially with my boss are important. After taking Assessment 5-2 I found that my scores were towards the middle meaning that my scores reflected a mix between political and nonpolitical. This assessment portrays how I use all of the different types of political behaviors equally. The networking assessment surprised me because my results portrayed that I have certain networking skills that I didn't know I even had. My internship helped me develop certain networking skills by communicating with coworkers, bosses, and other professionals. Networking helps gain new ideas and learn new things.
2. I will make sure in my One-minute self sell to include important and brief information that provides a summarization of my career plan and history. My one-minute self sell will be used in the field to network with other professionals. This one-minute self sell will help me find a job within the Social Work field. I can use my one minute self sell within the Social Work field to advocate for my clients when they need certain resources.
