

Dear recipient,

I am writing to recommend Alice for any position that requires excellent people skills, especially when it involves care-taking for vulnerable populations. As the parent of a non-speaking, disabled child, I am very careful about who I trust to care for my son. I have had the pleasure of employing Alice Flanagan intermittently for the past five years as my son's personal care attendant and I trust her with all of my children completely.

Alice is an extremely reliable worker who I can always count on to show up when scheduled with a smile. She has a great work ethic and a real heart for helping others. She's patient, compassionate and understanding, and has always given my son excellent care. He has formed a real attachment to her and I can see the positive impact has had on his well being. The entire family is always thrilled to hear when Alice is back in town and available to work with him.

I know whoever hires Alice will be impressed with her positive attitude and her dedication to serving her clients and her community. She will be a real asset to any team that's fortunate enough to have her. If you have any questions about Ms. Flanagan's time working with our son, or my experience observing her excellent moral character, don't hesitate to reach out to me.

Sincerely,
Aimee McNulty
