FIDGET FLOW INTRODUCES NEW POWER STORING TOY

FARMVILLE, Va, March 22, 2021 – The Fidget F.L.O.W Company will be releasing the new power storing Tangle Fidget, April 1, 2021. This all-new fidget technology stores energy as you fidget to charge small devices throughout the day. This innovation will revolutionize the fidget gadget industry. “I think it [The Tangle Fidget Toy] will provide a new way to individualize personal green energy.” said Grayson Lutz, Vice Director of Gadget Development.

This new Fidget F.L.O.W product is stylized after the standard Tangle fidget toy; a hard plastic fidget that can be manipulated into different shapes to occupy someone’s hands while working on a project or task. However, the new product from F.L.O.W stores the energy created when manipulating the gadget to charge your small electrical devices such as phones, tablets, and watches later as a power bank.

The new F.L.O.W product is available for persons of all ages who want to store their own energy as they fidget and work. This product is also an attractive innovation for those individuals looking to make small changes toward sustainable living. The Tangle by F.L.O.W can store up to three hours of fast-charge power at a time, and because of this is a great choice for people looking for personal renewable energy sources.

Fidget F.L.O.W is looking to bring sustainable, renewable energy to as many groups as possible. Due to this goal the company is offering discounts when schools or offices purchase this new technology in bulk. Single units are available for $30.00 plus shipping costs this price is due to the nature of the technology being the first of it’s kind on the market. Bulk purchases begin with 20% off when 25 or more and this discount increases with the number of units ordered. “The bulk purchasing options are perfect for companies or schools that want to improve their green energy usage.” said Lorida King, Co-Founder and Public Relations Chair of Fidget F.L.O.W.

With purchase of a Fidget F.L.O.W: Tangle individuals are eligible to join the 1 Planet Savers Club where they can get access to exclusive deals, new products in the future and be notified of environmental efforts happening in communities near them.

Fidget F.L.O.W is located in Washington, DC. Established in 2020 as a environmental gadget company. Longwood strives to educate about bettering our planet through focusing on our future generations.
