

Neighborhood Profile

Walyn Napper

SOCL-233

Dr. Jake Mline

10/21/2022

1. In my state of South Carolina, the racial makeup is 65.9% White American, 27.7% African American, 0.4% Native American, 1.8% Asian American, 0.1% Pacific Islander American, and 2.1% from two or more races. The social class makeup is a median household income of $51,740, with 17.2% of the population living below the poverty line. The gender makeup is 50.7% female and 49.3%, male. The age makeup is as follows: 5.1% under the age of 5, 18.6% under the age of 18, and 12.8% over the age of 65. The overall disabled population is 30%, with higher rates for those over 65 making up 19.8% of the disabled population. The family makeup in South Carolina is as follows: 31.9% of households are married couples with children, 28.8% of households have children, but no husband present and 15.1% are non-family.
2. South Carolina has several important businesses, including Walmart, which sells a variety of merchandise and is one of the most profitable businesses in the state. Another business in South Carolina is Bank of America, which is also very profitable. There are also many small businesses in the state that provide various goods and services. Many of these businesses are family-owned and operated.

South Carolina is home to several industries, including tourism, agriculture, manufacturing, and service. Tourism is a significant industry in South Carolina, and the state is home to many tourist attractions, including the beach, historic sites, and museums. Agriculture is also a significant industry in South Carolina, and the state produces a variety of crops, including corn, soybeans, cotton, and wheat. Manufacturing is another primary industry in South Carolina, and the state produces various products, including textiles, paper products, chemicals, and vehicles. Finally, the service industry is also a significant contributor to the economy of South Carolina, and the state is home to many service-based businesses, including healthcare, education, and retail.

3. Like most U.S. states, South Carolina has various services available to help individuals in the community. These services are designed to help groups of people based on demographic characteristics and institutions like the family. One of the services available is social security. This government-provided program helps people who have worked and paid into the system by providing benefits to those who retire, become disabled, or die. The program is designed to help people who have worked and paid into the system by providing benefits to those who retire, become disabled, or die. Another service available is income inequality. One of the services that help with the issue of income inequality is the earned income tax credit. The earned income tax credit is a refundable tax credit for low- and moderate-income working families. The credit helps families by supplementing their wages and providing a financial boost. The credit is available to both workers who are employed and those who are self-employed.

Another service available is the food assistance program. The food assistance program helps low-income individuals and families buy the food they need for a nutritious diet. The program provides benefits through Electronic Benefits Transfer cards, which can be used to purchase food at participating stores. The food assistance program also helps supplement seniors' diets, people with disabilities, and pregnant women. The program is designed to help those struggling to make ends meet and ensure they have access to nutritious food. The state of South Carolina also has a variety of services available to help families. One of these services is the child care subsidy program. The child care subsidy program helps low-income families pay for the cost of child care. The program provides payments to families based on their income and the number of children they have. The program also helps families by covering a portion of childcare costs, which can be a significant expense for low-income families.

4. The public leisure/recreation/ sports services in South Carolina include the beach, historic sites, and museums. Some public beaches in South Carolina are Myrtle Beach, Hilton Head Island, and Folly Beach. There are also many private beaches in the state. Some private beaches in South Carolina are Kiawah Island, Seabrook Island, and Isle of Palms. Myrtle Beach is a popular destination for tourists from all over the world. Hilton Head Island is a popular destination for golfers from all over the world. The island is home to many golf courses, including Harbour Town Golf Links and Palmetto Dunes Oceanfront Resort. Also, parks such as Congaree National Park and Charles Towne Landing State Historic Site are public leisure services in South Carolina. They educate the public about the state's history and natural environment.

The mission of the public leisure/recreation/ sports services in South Carolina is to provide opportunities for people to enjoy the state's natural beauty and to learn about its history and culture. The services tend to serve all community members, but they are particularly popular with tourists worldwide.

5. The people in my community are passionate about education, and all parents ensure their children are enrolled in either private or public schools. Some of the schools in my area include D.W. Daniel High School, Pendleton High School, and Anderson County Upper Elementary School. The cost of private schools varies depending on the school, but most of them are around $7,000 a year. The school demographics are primarily white, but there are a few black and Hispanic students.

A larger population of children in public schools are of black or Hispanic descent. The schools in my area are good and provide an excellent education for all students. All of the teachers are certified, and many of them have years of experience. The schools offer a variety of extracurricular activities, such as sports, clubs, and bands. They also offer a variety of A.P. and I.B. classes. Still, the disparity in the private schools results from the high cost of attending them. Low-income families often cannot afford to send their children to private schools, which creates a gap in the quality of education between rich and poor children.

6. The overall crime rate in South Carolina is 3,462 per 100,000 people. This means there are about 33 crimes per 1,000 people in the state. In 2021, the reported number of violent crime incidents was 20 000. The number of property crime incidents was reported to be 50,000. The most common type of crime is property crime, which includes burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft. The second most common type of crime is violent crime, which includes murder, rape, robbery, and assault.

The demographic groups that tend to get arrested most in South Carolina are blacks and Hispanics. The most common type of crime for these groups is property crime. The rate of blacks being arrested for property crimes is five times higher than the rate of whites being arrested for property crimes. The rate of Hispanics being arrested for property crimes is 2.5 times higher than the rate of whites being arrested for property crimes.

References

Crime Data Explorer: South Carolina (no date) Crime Data Explorer. Available at:

<https://crime-data-explorer.app.cloud.gov/pages/explorer/crime/crime-trend> (Accessed: October 21, 2022).

South Carolina Gini Index of Income Inequality (no date) LiveStories. Available at:

<https://www.livestories.com/statistics/south-carolina/gini-index-income-inequality>.
(Accessed: October 21, 2022).

Social Security (no date) Social Security Atlanta Region South Carolina Area. Available at:

https://www.ssa.gov/atlanta/southeast/sc/south_carolina.htm (Accessed: October 21, 2022).

U.S. Census Bureau quickfacts: United States (no date). Available at:

<https://www.census.gov/quickfacts/fact/table/US/PST045221> (Accessed: October 21, 2022).